Tyne Daly: After Cagney & Lacey, taking the stage with Gypsy

A LESSON IN LOVE

Meat Ruthie and Verena Cady, a pair of five-year-olds as bubbly and cute as any kids you know. They are conjoined twins, and they share a single, fragile heart. But they lack nothing in courage or good cheer—going to school, making friends, ringing all the neighbors' bells to show off their new, custom-made tricycle. "There are people who say, 'Oh, how tragic,'" says Marlene Cady, the twins' mother. "I always tell these people that the only tragedy is their interpretation of the girls' situation, because obviously Ruthie and Verena are happy kids."

Ruthie and Verena have taught their mother, their father and their sister a great deal about what love and family are really about. They can teach us all something.

30 BUZZ ALDRIN: STARSTRUCK

He is a self-proclaimed futurist, a doctor of science who says he knows the best way to reach Mars, a prized peacock on the Southern California social circuit who attends two or three fancy charity events a week, the author of two books . . .

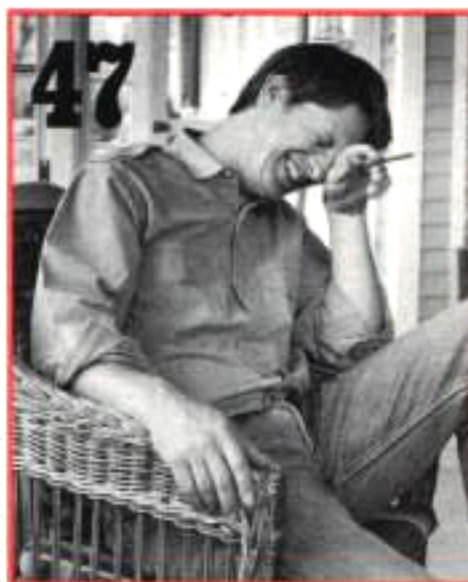

36 GROSS BUSTERS

Nobody got slimed, no statues sprang viciously to life, no gunk bubbled up from beneath the street. But the arrival of that signature white ectomobile made it clear that whatever was coming to the neighborhood was weird. Following the premiere of Ghostbusters II . . .

WITH GIGGLES, GHOULS AND GLAMOUR, CELEBS BREAK LOOSE FOR GHOSTBUSTERS II

'Round midnight, Bill Murray tooted his own noisemaker, clearly music to wife Mickey's ears.

COLUMBIA PICTURES INDUSTRIES INC.

Nobody got slimed, no statues sprang viciously to life, no gunk bubbled up from beneath the street. But the arrival of that signature white ectomobile made it clear that whatever was coming to the neighborhood was weird. Following the Hollywood premiere of Ghostbusters II at Mann's Chinese Theater, limousines lurched to a Palladium bash with a theme that took off from the film's own haunted New Year's Eve. While moviegoing mortals across the nation plunked down $5, $6, $7—even, in some Manhattan theaters, $7.50—to help the sequel bust the three-day weekend record just set by Indiana Jones and the Last Crusade, high-spirited stars Bill Murray, Dan Aykroyd, Sigourney Weaver, Harold Ramis and Ernie Hudson preened.

"Despite the rumors that I was in New York having a nose job," Ramis announced, "the fact is, I had some gallstones removed."

"And tonight we're going to auction them off," screenwriting partner Aykroyd added. Paying $350 a ticket, partygoers raised $500,000 for St. John's Hospital in Santa Monica.

While Sigourney seemed ready for another outing—"Working with the boys is like getting on a crazy ride on a wild carousel," she said—others were hesitant. "I don't think there's going to be a Ghostbusters III," said Murray. "But maybe a Ghostbusters 2½." □ Writer-actor Harold Ramis carted off a poster of his mad scientist alter ego.

Sigourney Weaver temporarily left husband James Simpson to join two statue-esque mimes.

Cheech Marin, who has a wide-eyed cameo in the sequel, came with Patty and kids Carmen and Joey.

"We wanted it to be both funny and scary," said Dan Aykroyd, with wife Donna Dixon.

Fashion-busting chums Robert Downey Jr. and Sarah Jessica Parker haunted each other all evening.

Ashley Hamilton, 14, not quite as tan as dad George, accompanied mom Alana.

Kevin Bacon and Kyra Sedgwick stayed calm, though their baby's due date was only days away.
